Major Telephone Program Planned

Will Spend Over $2,000,000 On Modernization In 1958-60

Okanagan Telephone Company will spend another $2,332,042 on modernization in 1958-1960.

The company's principal objectives are: Telephone number conversions to the 2-5 system (2 letters, 5 numbers).

Establishment of two new dial offices at Rutland and Okanagan Mission by December, 1958.

Additions to pole lines, cable and outside plant. The Rutland-Okanagan Mission exchanges will cost $1,537,042.

Officials said the two-year program, authorized by the company's executive committee recently is in addition to the million-dollar expansion approved for this year.

An ultimate objective is automatic ticketing and recording of all subscribers' long distance calls and personals dialling by subscribers of long distance numbers outside the Okanagan system.

The company anticipates the increase in long distance calls will force hikes in lineages by 50 per cent, from 108 to 151 circuits by 1960.

After conversion to the 2-5 numbering plan OTC's exchanges will be identified by code letter or name assignments such as HYacinth, POplar, Linden, TENnyson and so forth.

Officials said OTC is the first telephone company in British Columbia to have system-wide operator toll dialling, a new service, on which the company now is working.

MICROWAVE SYSTEM

This service will be fitted to nationwide dialling when Trans-Canada Telephone Company, family name for seven major companies cross-country, establishes the national microwave system.

It will permit local subscribers to dial their own long distance calls to any telephone on the North American continent.

The company's new expansion plans call for additions to be made to Kelowna and Penticton offices.

Meiklejohn and Lamont, architects, have been handed preliminary plans for the preparation of working drawings.

Officials said the 1958-1960 expansion breakdown includes: Subscribers' telephone installations—$225,000.

Pole lines, cable, outside plant—$570,000.

Rutland - Okanagan Mission Exchanges—$1,537,042. (This includes additions to Kelowna and Penticton exchanges and expansion of Vernon and Salmon Arm offices.)

TRAFFIC INCREASE

Reconstruction Harvey Avenue Urged by City

City council is anxious that the provincial government take immediate steps to meet the potential increase in traffic when the Lake Okanagan bridge is completed.

Highways Minister F. A. Gagliardi has been advised that it will be necessary to install storm drains on Harvey Avenue and part of Abbott Street; that Harvey Avenue will have to be widened and brought up to proper grade before being hard-surfaced, and traffic lights installed at various intersections.

Harvey Avenue will be classified as an arterial highway when the bridge is completed. Bernard Avenue will be classified as an alternate route.

Alf Herman, Arthur Jackson told council this week that reconstruction of Harvey should be done early next spring so that work will be completed in time for the bridge opening later in the year.

Reasons for bringing it to the government's attention now is that the "highways" department will shortly be preparing estimates for 1958 projects.

Text of the letter sent to Mr. Gagliardi reads as follows: "Sometime during the latter part of next year traffic will commence to use the new Okanagan Lake bridge. We, the council of the City of Kelowna, feel that this new traffic flow can be anticipated and therefore all possible preliminary work should be done immediately so that there will be the least inconvenience to the travelling public and the least inconvenience with our normal traffic flows in the city.

"At various times over the past year or two meetings have been held with yourself and representatives of your department to plan for this new traffic. The highway routes through Kelowna have now been established as Harvey Avenue from its intersection with arterial highway, reference 24SR, westerly to its intersection with Abbott Street and the alternate route is along Abbott Street from Harvey Avenue to Bernard Avenue and then along Bernard Avenue to the Vernon Road and along the Vernon Road to connect with Harvey Avenue.

"Now that the complete route is established we would ask that immediate steps be taken to bring these routes up to highway standard.

"Harvey Avenue—This avenue will have to be storm drained; a section reached on its width, and then some existing curbing and boulevard possibly removed and other curbing added. The highway will then have to be brought up to proper grade which will require some digging out at the curb sides and then be completely surfaced. On Abbott Street, which connects Harvey Avenue with Bernard Avenue, the full width is established but again some storm drains and curbing will have to be installed and then the blacktop widened to proper standard.

RCMP Costs Will Jump $17,850

Police costs will jump $17,850 over the next three years for an eight-man force.

This was disclosed in the RCMP contract signed by city council this week. Under terms of the agreement, Kelowna will pay $29,622 annually between now and May 31, 1959. However for the succeeding 12 months, the contract calls for an expenditure of $37,672.

Under the present contract, the city pays 50 per cent of the cost for five members and 75 per cent for each additional member. After June 1, 1959, the agreement calls for the city to pay 75 per cent for each constable.

The present agreement runs for two years, retroactive to June 1 of this year.

In finalizing this agreement, Mayor J. J. Ladd said the city had no alternative but to fall in line.

"RCMP rates were hiked across the nation earlier this year.

Approximately 15 persons will be employed in various capacities around the studio, increasing to 40 in several years' time, Mr. Chapman said.

City Council this week approved granting a trade licence to William G. Carter, a gas fitter, 304 Bernard Avenue.

City gas inspector William Conn will be permitted to inspect natural gas installations in rural areas adjacent to the city. The same fee will be charged as in the city.

Ald. Jack Treadgold thought that Mr. Conn could handle the extra work, especially in slack periods.

GYMKHANA CANCELLED

Sleeping Sickness Strikes Horses in Kelowna Area

A dreaded horse disease, often fatal, has struck Kelowna district. It can be passed to humans.

But mass inoculation can curb spread of equine encephalitis, commonly called "sleeping sickness."

Glenmore veterinary authority Dr. A. S. Clarke said a special vaccine serum now is being speeded to Kelowna from Indianapolis, nearest supply point, and widespread vaccination will commence at the weekend.

He said there have been no fatalities to date and first warning came when one case was reported last weekend. There have been no other cases spotted since, but authorities are taking no chances.

The sickness has forced cancellation of the annual gymkhana scheduled for Labor Day weekend.

Kelowna medical health authorities confirmed the disease can be transmitted to humans.

But there is little likelihood people here will be infected so long as proper methods of control among animals are carried out.

Dr. Clarke said affected horses appear to be intoxicated, show mental derangement and paralysis. The disease is spread by blood sucking insects such as mosquitoes and therefore is not confined easily.

He said the affected horses sometimes remain ill for four to six months. In other cases, animals are found dead 24 hours after infection.

And the infection can continue from year to year, disappearing in the winter to return in summer. Last local appearance of the disease was in 1948-1949, Dr. Clarke said.

The veterinary explained the disease often is picked up by birds who, in turn, are bitten by mosquitoes. The mosquitoes carry the virus from the birds with blood and then transmit it to horses in almost the same manner.

Medical authorities said symptoms in humans are about the same as in horses.

Exception is that people are affected to a lesser degree. Main groups of persons who are in danger of catching the sickness are laboratory workers.

Don McKay Named

New Secretary Local Legion

Appointment of Don McKay, as secretary-manager of the Kelowna branch, Canadian Legion has been announced.

Mr. McKay succeeds Don White who resigned to take the post of police magistrate.

Mr. McKay has been a Legion member since 1945, and a member of the executive for five years. During World War II, he was an RCAF flying instructor.

Mr. McKay will take office September 3.

Also at the hospital board meeting, it was learned that the Kelowna hospital has been accredited for a further three years.

The accreditation commission is made up of the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association, and the Canadian Medical Association.

Kelowna General Hospital was one of the first in interior B.C. to attain this status. Presently, hospitals in Kamloops, Vernon, Trail, Powell River and Nanaimo are accredited, but excluding Vancouver, other centers in B.C. still have requirements to meet.

SIGN CONTRACT

Hospital Nurses Get Wage Boost

A contract to grant registered nurses at Kelowna General Hospital a settlement similar to that awarded nurses in Penticton was signed at a meeting of the hospital board Tuesday evening.

The settlement, retroactive to January 1957, will give nurses a basic salary of $244 monthly; $25 per month extra for nurses with university training; five per cent annual increments; cumulative sick time to 120 days, and a contract to July 3, 1959.

Also at the hospital board meeting, it was learned that the Kelowna hospital has been accredited for a further three years.

Living Costs Labor's Major Point in Wage Negotiations

Living cost is labor's main argument in current Okanagan Valley wage negotiations with B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd.

And unionists are using a federal government survey to back up demands.

William Darroch, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters' Fruitworkers Local 48, Kelowna, said workers in five B.C. Fruit Processors plants decline:

1. Canadian urban families need $4,424 a year to live decently.

2. Kelowna families require $4,440 annually.

3. These sums cover family units of two to six persons only.

4. They pay for 14 important items of ordinary living expense.

5. Unless they are met, Valley fruitworkers must live below the standard of an "unskilled construction flagman."

Darroch indicated a Dominion Bureau of Statistics survey, based on 1955 urban family costs in seven key city areas cross-country, has provided fruitworkers with the nub of an argument for wage increases. The union is asking a 25 per cent wage hike across the board.

PRESENT SCALE

Presently, male processing plant workers are paid $1.25 an hour after 72 days service. Women get 91 cents an hour after 72 days. A 23 percent boost would give men $1.54 an hour and women $1.14.

Both union and BCFPL have called for conciliation while maintaining good relations.

The national inflationary trends certainly are a cause for concern to all facets of Canadian life, BCFPL general manager R. P. Walrod admitted.

"We agree the trend of inflation nationally is a cause for concern, but B.C. Fruit Processors, as an integral part of the fruit industry, and being vitally concerned with the increased costs which result in a diminishing return to the grower are obligated to resist all trends towards further increases in these costs."

"At the same time, we recognize that we would not be keeping faith with the fruit industry, if the differential in wages, between the fruit industry and the general wage scale prevailing in the province, were allowed to widen to the point where inadequate labor was available to properly harvest and process the fruit crops."

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics survey reveals city-located families require a minimum average of $4,424 a year to live.

The study pegs Ontario's Kitchener-Waterloo district with an average family cost of $4,390 annually.

COST OF LIVING

"Meanwhile," labor leader Darroch said, "cost-of-living since 1955 has inched steadily upward and although no official government figures are available at this time, fruitworkers estimate average yearly Kelowna family costs are about $4,440."

The federal study states Halifax average is $4,430 and reports the Canadian 1955 average of $4,424 annually would pay for 14 necessary items of living; families surveyed totaled 787; incomes ranged from $2,000 to $8,500; units examined had six persons.

Cause of national inflationary trends is outlined in another government report submitted to the minister of finance in February of this year. The report, from Governor J. E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada, states:

"Current inflation was caused by the attempt to build too many new factories, schools, roads, bridges, hospitals, utilities, houses—capital facilities of one kind or another—all at one time. Capital expansion on this scale cannot be achieved all at once because this is beyond the capacity of existing supplies of material and manpower. In the effort to achieve it, competition for these existing supplies forced prices up. In one way or another, this competition was largely responsible for a rise in the cost of living of three percent in the last seven months of 1955. It also sparked a tremendous increase in imports from other countries."

"They add unskilled construction flagmen already have stepped up to a reasonable standard at $1.56 per hour and believe their work to be just as important, if not more so."

DBS reports Vancouver families need annual take-home incomes averaging $4,484 for each family.

Other areas studied are Montreal at $4,540; Toronto at $4,695; Winnipeg at $4,110; and Edmonton's annual cost was $4,482.

The bureau's survey breaks down family expenditures on the income dollar 14 ways:

Food, 23.5 cents; housing, light, fuel and water, 17.1 cents; household operation, 3.7 cents; furnishings and equipment, 6.3 cents; clothing, 8.6 cents; automobile, 6.3 cents; medical care, 4.4 cents; personal care, 1.0 cents; recreation, 4.4 cents; smoking, 3.9 cents; contributions and gifts, 2.3 cents; personal taxes, 5.6 cents; and security, 4.1 cents.

PREMIUM COSTS MONEY

It may be nice to strut around and throw out our chest because the Canadian dollar is at a five-cent premium over the United States dollar, but that fact is costing this country some millions of dollars a year which we can't afford—Red Dove (Alta.) Advocate.

NEWS SPOTLIGHT

By HARRY ECKLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A 20-year-old Polish diplomat in London has been granted asylum in Britain after telling police how he had sidestepped a Communist move to ship him back to his red-ruled homeland.

Mieczyslaw Regula, assistant to the Polish commercial attaché in London, came out of four days' hiding and the Home Office said he may stay in Britain. He was to be sailed to Poland on Sunday, recalled after his embassy chiefs had turned him in as a suspected sympathizer with the West.

The London Daily Mail quoted Regula as saying that his blonde wife, Melania, was a Communist fanatic who spied on him in their quarters at the embassy. Regula said he told her that he would not live with her again, and that she went back to Poland with their two-year-old daughter. Their son stayed in London with his father.

Regula said a friend tipped him off that the Communists knew he planned to seek asylum. He grabbed his son and made a dash post embassy officials to a waiting taxi.

Detectives watched from a distance and saw Regula jump into the taxi after brushing aside a Polish secret police agent who questioned him on the sidewalk.

DISARMAMENT TALKS

If the United Nations disarmament subcommittee's talks in London drag on much longer, many of the technical staffs may find themselves needed in two places at once.

The London five-power talks already have lasted five months, and if they go on another three weeks they might collide with the convening of the UN General Assembly in New York.

The assembly usually meets the third Tuesday in September, but this year it is expected to go into special session a week earlier to consider subcommittee's report on the Hungarian revolt.

The technical side of the London disarmament conference is being handled by some 80 members of the UN secretariat, under Dr. Dragoslav Priftich, undersecretary for Security Council affairs.

The prospect of a conflict in assignments led to speculation in Western quarters that the disarmament conference, if it continues might be shifted to New York later this year.

DEFENCE OF QUEEN

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express sprang to the support of the Queen against criticisms by two peers. It called the British aristocracy "a liability to the nation."

The Daily Mail, at the same time, wrote off the 19-year-old Marquess of Londonderry as "a yes-man and a copy-cat" for echoing the views of Lord Altrincham on the royal court.

The two articles brought a new note into the editorial brawl over the royal family that developed since Lord Altrincham's startled Britons with his original attack on the Queen two weeks earlier, when he wrote in a magazine article that she speaks like a "priggish school-girl" and is surrounded by too many upper-class advisers.

Lord Londonderry entered the row with a letter to the New Statesman and Nation denouncing the traditional handling of royalty as "ludicrously and nauseatingly incongruous in a modern democracy."

The teen-age marquess was immediately rapped on the knuckles by his 83-year-old grandmother, the Marchioness of Londonderry. She said his letter was "vulgar, silly and childish."

PLANE DISASTER

The main part of the airliner which crashed August 11 killing 79 persons was believed reached in its swamp crater near Inouadun, Que., last weekend, but workers had found no large section of the ill-fated DC-4.

Jean-Paul Foursier of the transport department said the inquiry into Canada's biggest air disaster will take "several months" but he is confident the cause of the crash will be determined.

None of the bodies of the 73 passengers, returning from a holiday in Britain, or of the six crew members, had been found intact. Two of the plane's four engines were pulled from their spongy bog bed about 15 feet down. Both were damaged.

WHEAT SURPLUS

Canada entered the new crop year August 1 with the largest wheat surplus in history, clogging markets and farms, and threatening to swell into one of the biggest political issues in years.

With actual production apparently much higher than it had previously estimated, the bureau of statistics, last week placed the carryover at August 1 at a record 722,807,000 bushels, about equal to two average crops.

To this would be added this fall's harvest which, even if only average, would give grain market men one of the greatest disposal problems they have ever faced.

While the surplus was spread across the country, almost half was still held on the farms. The bureau estimated farms held a record 319,100,000 bushels on July 31, an increase of 115,000,000 over last year, and almost quadruple the ten-year average of 83,000,000 bushels.

DEATH IN CAVE-IN

Six construction workers were killed at Dresden, Ont., last week when an estimated 150 tons of sand and clay slid into a pit where they were working on a steel and concrete foundation for a new water-works system pumphouse.

Rescue workers at the scene 12 miles north of Chatham, had to cut through steel piping and timbers in which some of the bodies were entangled. All the victims had come from Holland within the last seven years.

B.C. Roads Defended By Gaglardi

VANCOUVER (CP) — Provincial Highway Minister P. A. Gaglardi came back here from the north claiming the road between Cassiar and Stewart was good for speeds of up to 70 miles an hour.

Critics of the work will have to "eat their words," he said.

Mr. Gaglardi strongly defended the work done in 1955 on the road by Wade and Wells Limited, of Trail. The work was criticized early last year and was the subject of a sensational legislative inquiry.

It was charged that the road was below standard and that public funds had been squandered through the no-tender, cost-plus contract given out by former Mines Minister Robert E. Sommers.

"I would invite anyone, anywhere to travel over the road and see a better constructed road for the same cost any place in the province," Mr. Gaglardi said.

ANSWERS CRITICISM

The minister also defended other highways criticized in articles by city editor Bruce Larsen in the Province.

"Highways in the north are generally good," said the fiery minister, "but there are others which are adverse."

He blamed the province's development and bad weather for most of Larsen's criticisms.

Answering reports that north-bound tourists were detouring through Alberta Mr. Gaglardi said: "I've heard that old trash for years... there's always somebody who beefs."

Jim Hughes, executive vice-president of the Vancouver Tourist Association, said he agreed with Dawson Creek, B.C. businessmen that the province is losing thousands of tourist dollars because of poor roads in the north.

"There's been more criticism this year than ever before," he said.

Mr. Gaglardi denied a suggestion by Victoria Tourist Commissioner George I. Warren that the highway department was trying to get the main highways ready for next year's centennial celebrations.

"The centennial has not affected me one way or the other," he said.

"My over-all program is still going in high gear."

AT OYAMA

Family Returns After Six Weeks In Prince George

OYAMA—Mrs. F. Fritz has returned to her home in Princeton, after spending a week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nyffeler.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Townsend and family have returned to their home in Oyama from the Cariboo where Mr. Townsend was employed. Mrs. Townsend and two of their sons spent six weeks in the northern towns of Prince George, Williams Lake and Quesnel.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sproule, are Mrs. C. Pearcey and two daughters, of New Westminster.

Arrived home after a six week visit with relations in Manitoba, are Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Carr.

Centre May Close As Refugees Leave

TORONTO (CP) — Indications are that the West Lodge Hungarian Reception Centre here which housed 6,814 refugees during the months following the Hungarian revolution may soon close down. At present only about 100 refugees are billeted there.

Eric Marchant, director of the centre, said refugees are leaving "at the rate of 10 persons a day now."

Most of the refugees who have left the centre have found jobs, but some have had difficulty finding work—chiefly because of the language problem.

Several engineering experts have been hired at salaries ranging from $6,000 to $10,000 a year.

About one-third of the 33,000 refugees now in Canada are in Toronto. The total Hungarian community here now is estimated at around 20,000.

Couple Escape Serious Injury In Accident

A mother and her five-year-old son narrowly missed serious injury Tuesday when they were struck down by a car at the intersection of Queensway and Pender.

RCMP reported that Mrs. Annette Swart and her son Roger were crossing Queensway to the Health Unit at about 4 p.m. when the accident occurred. They were taken immediately to Knox Clinic and treated for shock and abrasions. Hospitalization was not necessary.

No charges have been laid to date as police are still investigating the mishap.

Red Sox Paste Orioles League Lead Now Split

It was murder under the lights in Penticton last night. The victims, Kelowna Orioles, put up a good fight, but didn't display any of the stuff they had in their murder of Summerland the previous night.

The murderers were a nine-man group of Penticton Red Sox and their weapons were hardwood poles, which they used to hammer out five home-runs in their 17-6 defeat of the Orioles.

The happiest spectators were a group of Oliver ball players, who watched the Orioles slide back into a first-place tie with them by the move.

THREE FITCHES

Orioles' coach Hank Tostenson, realizing the importance of the game, tried three pitchers in his attempt to stem the tide, but the Sox sluggers were reaching for the bad ones and pasting them over the wall, no matter who pitched them.

Sox southpaw Jack Durston went there, well, on the mound for the southern club, with young Jim Staff coming in late in the game to finish.

Charlie Preen, Sox center fielder, counted for two of the circuit clouts, with the Drossos boys, Sambo and George, accounting for two more.

Jim Tooley surprised everyone, even himself, by glancing one off his port-side swing clear over the left field fence for the fifth home, as ten of the Sox runs were racked up on distance clouts.

Les Schaefer, Orioles' pitcher of the night before, clouted out the only home run for Tostenson's nine, but the effort was inadequate in the face of the swinging Sox.

RALLY DIED

It looked like a big rally for the Orioles in the eighth, and coach Tostenson went in to pinch-hit, lacing out a nice single, but the rally died with four runs on three hits and three errors.

Bill Martino, started for the Orioles, but his curve didn't seem to be breaking too well, and he retired in favor of Jack Denbow.

Denbow served up some nice offerings, with plenty of variety, but the Sox sluggers were reaching for the bad ones and tapping them all the way.

Bob Radies came in to finish for the Orioles, serving up a steady bill of fare for the remaining innings.

LOSS COSTLY

Coming, as it did, on the tail of a six-game losing streak, broken only by Tuesday night's clobbering of Summerland, the loss was a costly one for the Orioles, and coach Hank Tostenson was duly perturbed.

"This is it," he told ball players after the game. "We have to pull out of this right now. Sunday we meet the same club in Kelowna, and we have to beat them."

His words were truer than fiction, since the club that led the league handily all season is now in a first-place tie with Oliver, at 14 wins and 8 losses apiece. Penticton is right behind with 12 wins and eight losses, meaning that everyone has to be on their toes now in the race for league supremacy.

Penticton travels here on Sunday, making the Elks Stadium league tussle a "do-or-die" affair.

The Orioles have to be on their toes for more reasons than that, however, since they travel to Quesnel on Labor Day weekend in quest of a $1,000 pot of gold at the end of a three-day baseball trial.

So it's do-or-die all the way for the Orioles.

TAKES TIME

With kindly intent many people will say that nature is correcting the situation of over-supply, which is quite true, but a truly healthy world market condition will not accrue in one season. It will take more than one poor crop in Western Canada to make a telling impression on world markets—Estevan (Sask.) Mercury.

Orioles Hammer Macs in Dusky League Thriller

Powered by the big bats of John Culos and Bill Martino, the Orioles pulled out of their five-game losing slump on Tuesday night, hammering the Summerland Macs 14-5 in 4½ complete innings.

The Macs used some stalling tactics in an endeavor to have the game declared "no contest," and gathered around umpire Wendell Schwab when he called the game a win for the Orioles even though the fifth inning had not been completed due to the gathering shades of evening, but failed to make their point stick.

Culos, the Orioles' snappy little field general, laced a sharply hit ball over the center field fence, driving Hromi Ito in, for the first time last year, will still be in the line-up, and Joe Welder, regular third baseman for the local nine, has been adding some good support in the mound duties.

It was the top of the first, the Summerland crew got away to a fast start when Doug Kilburn and George Taylor hit Schaefer's deliveries, and Stefureak smacked out a double that drove them both in, putting the Macs ahead 2-0.

Orioles Rally

Culos changed their grins to frowns, however, when he smacked out his homer to tie the ball game. Martino got on with a clean booming single out right, and made his way around on sneaks, coming in on a pass ball.

Rich Wickenheiser walked, and Cec Favell was hit by pitch. Dave Gatherum, Orioles' first sacker, poked out a lovely single over the third baseman's head, bringing Wickenheiser in, and ending the inning scoring.

A pass by Wickenheiser in right field let Cristante stretch a single into a double, and Hromi Ito bobbled the throw to second on Taylor's hit, letting Cristante in with one run, in the top of the second.

It brought in one for the Orioles in the second, and Martino clouted his homer, bringing in Culos and Kaiser, making it another four-run inning. Stefureak came in to tighten up the game, and retired the side.

BOBBLES COST The third frame was uneventful, and both Cristante and Egely brought in Macs' runs in the top of the fourth, on bobbles and loose play by the Orioles infielders.

In the bottom of the fifth, the Orioles went on a spree, capitalizing on two hits and two errors for five runs. Favell, Gatherum, Ingelby, Schaefer and Ito all tallied.

Schaefer held the Macs down in the top of the fifth, and the Macs started to stall for time as the sun slipped over the mountain and the shadows blackened.

The Orioles loaded up the bases twice, and Gatherum came in on a tag-up to add one run. Two men were out and the bases loaded when Taylor held a conference, and took the mound himself for a slow warm-up, but he never got to pitch as umpire Schwab called the game

DESPERATION SLIDE

"Yer out—yer Safe!" Orioles Rich Wickenheiser, making a desperation slide for home in the Kelowna - Summerland league game in the Orchard City on Tuesday, seems to be in doubt himself, as Oily Egely, Macs catcher, blocks the home plate with determination. He dropped the ball a second later, however, and Wickenheiser was safe. The Orioles won 14-5 in a 4½ inning game.

Club 13 Defend Softball Crown

The senior "B" men's softball interior finals will start tonight in Vernon's new softball park, with Kelowna's Club 13 and Vernon's Coldstream Hotels squaring off at 6:30.

The Club 13 nine, easy winners in the city league this year, faced the Coldstreams last year in their season's toughest series, and came away the winners to go on to provincial level of play.

Orchard City fans will be able to witness the second game between the two clubs, played in City Park oval on Monday night at 6:30, with the third game of the best-of-three, if necessary, played back in Vernon on the following Wednesday.

The Coldstreams won their way into the Vernon city finals by beating Lumby Athletics three games straight.

Club 13 had a little more trouble in their finals, dropping one game to the Rutland Rovers, but they have beaten the Coldstreams in exhibition fairly easily this year.

Last year's final series was a thriller from the word "go", and provided a lot of fan interest, with the Coldstreams being composed of a number of the Vernon Canadians' hockey team.

Club 13 has sharpened up their organization this year, and the addition of the Hicks twins to the line-up has added some hitting power.

Eugene Knorr, the drain-pipe chucker with the iron arm that gave Coldstream batter such a hard time last year, will still be in the line-up, and Joe Welder, regular third baseman for the local nine, has been adding some good support in the mound duties.

It was the top of the first, the Summerland crew got away to a fast

Girls' Softball Championships Slated For Kelowna Aug. 31

Curvaceous gals will be vying for prominence in the Kelowna sports scene this Labor Day weekend, with the Senior "B" women's provincial softball finals being staged in the City Park oval, starting on Saturday, August 31 at 1 p.m.

Holding the torch for Kelowna will be the task of captain Anita Stewart and her Super-Value Aces, the snappy club that recaptured the interior championships, and the city crown this year.

It will be a four-way, two-game knockout series, with Quesnel, Vancouver and Victoria opposing the Aces in the battle for B.C. honors.

Herman McArthur, interior association president, and coach of the Aces, received the news that Quesnel was entering with mixed feelings, since it makes his job of scheduling a tougher one.

There will be three games on Saturday, at 1, 3 and 6 p.m. If everybody is obliging, one team may be knocked out, and three teams move into Sunday's games.

Sunday's games will be at the same times, 1, 3 and 6, but the probability of Monday games is quite strong. Should the games on Sunday be sufficient, Monday games will be unnecessary.

The Aces, interior champs last year as well, have a much stronger club this year, with more depth.

Durable veteran chucker Olive Pope has been backed up well by Zena Lorella, a former ball player who came back to the Aces ranks this year, to prove handy as a bottle-popper at a slug.

Joyce McInerney and Thelma Sole are two new faces of the club—both wandering lassies from New Zealand who are making their home in Kelowna temporarily.

Martha Lansdowne and Leslie Connolly are former Kelowna ball players who returned to the ranks this year after a one-year absence while they got used to the kitchen chore.

Frances Talaris, Mona Schmitts and Leona Bensen are all new-

Deuces Host Jun. S'ball Finals Sat.

Kelowna Deuces will be hosting the Vancouver and Victoria junior girls' softball teams in the provincial finals this weekend in the City Park oval, with the first game starting on Saturday at 1 p.m.

The Deuces, automatic winners of the junior interior finals, will engage in a three-way, two-game knockout for the provincial championship.

Saturday games will be at 1 p.m., 3 and 6 with one team possibly receiving the axe.

On Sunday the games will be at the same time, with the possibility of two games only being necessary at 1 and 3.

OGOPOGO SWIM CLUB MERMAIDS FARE WELL

Kelowna's Ogoopogo Swim Club, despite a skinny entry of boys, managed to walk off with a third-place spot in the First Annual B.C. Summer Clubs Invitational swim meet in Vancouver on Monday and Tuesday in UBC's Empire Pool.

A sensational showing by the girls on the team, including top place in all five girls' relay events, placed them in third spot behind Crescent Beach and Empire Pool, both of whom have longer seasons than the local club.

(Full details of the club's showing will be carried in Monday's Courier.)

Condition Spelled Difference
In Canada's Diving Queen

By GEORGE INGLIS

A slight matter of rules and lack of condition cost Canada's greatest female diver the top place in the U.S. National outdoor championships at Houston's Shamrock Hill Pool, "deep in the heart of Texas", last week.

On the matter of rules, Hamilton's bronzed goddess of the springboard, Irene MacDonald, was called upon to use a dive that has been used by U.S. divers for the past four years, but has not yet been accepted by the Olympic rules—the 1½ somersault with a double twist, the hardest dive a girl is allowed to do.

Due to this dive being unacceptable under the Games rules, Irene was not versed in the dive, and didn't encounter it until this year, when coach Glen McCormick taught her the dive. She didn't use the dive on her trip to Canada, and didn't practice it; something the courageous young star admits freely was remiss of her. It was enough to spell the difference and let Paula Jean Meyers, national indoor champ, take the crown out of her grasp, in the three meter spring board event.

In the earlier, one-metre event, it was the lack of training that showed up. Four points up on Meyers after the first seven dives, Irene missed her cutaway 1½, losing the few precious points that made all the difference between first and second.

In the three-metre event, both girls were neck-and-neck until the final dive, which was the aforementioned somersault and twist. The Canadian diver just plain fluffed it, and was the first to admit it was no one's fault but her own.

It was still an achievement greater than any attributed to a Canadian girl before, but it was dulled with a film of disappointment created by the knowledge that she might have been the champion.

She might have been champion, had she not trained her heart out last year, working at one job during the day time, and another at night in order to make enough money to pay her way to the meets where she strove mightily to place the name of her native country in the sports limelight of the world.

All this extra work, added to a ruthless, rigorous program of diving necessary for any champion, spelt fatigue to the slight, 24-year-old girl on whom disappointment now sits like a mantle.

It cost her the championship.

HALF THE STORY

The picture for little Miss MacDonald is even blacker than that, however—she has incurred the wrath of her present club, and the coach she sincerely respects and likes diving for. She now awaits the ruling of the club's directors as to whether she is out or in.

Before she left Los Angeles, where she was a member of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, she advised them that she didn't care to enter in the ten-metre tower event, since she was trying to unwind somewhat after last year's gruelling grind. They overlooked her intention, and entered her anyway.

When she refused to dive in the event, scratching at post time, the club was furious, and ejected her summarily from their roster.

Subsequently, due no doubt to the fact that she is still the greatest threat on the North American continent to become the next world's champ, they changed the boat to a suspension, and have left her hanging until the Athletic Director of the club confers with her coach, Glen McCormick, husband of the famous Pat McCormick, and one of the world's best coaches in his own right.

All this might not have been so bad had her coach been in an amiable frame of mind, but he is unhappy with the little gal himself, and with some reason.

When Irene came up for the Canadian championships in Vancouver, McCormick wanted her to return immediately to L.A. and work on her dives especially the somersault and twist, in preparation for the nationals.

The little girl with the large sense of loyalty was torn between two desires, however. On the one hand, she wanted to comply with the wishes of the coach she ranks as the "best coach in the world", and the man she most wants to dive for.

On the other hand, however, she has tremendous amount of feeling for Kelowna, her adopted city, and Dr. George Athans, the first coach to bring her along, and inspire her with the desire to become great.

It was a tough decision. Especially when the city she calls a second home was having a big annual water show—the Regatta—and looked upon her as a must in their scheme of things.

BITTER PILL

Regatta over, she headed for the nationals, with these things in mind—enough to cause a lesser person to quail and head for cover—and came out second best in a field of 35 of the finest in the U.S. This is bad?

However, the same little gal who stood up in front of that king-size crowd in Melbourne, Australia, last year, tears of pain dimming her eyes, and dived to a bronze medal award, third highest in the world, is made of stern stuff.

She faced her task squarely, and missed out—in the one instance due to lack of training, and in the other due to a difference in rules.

Her task this year was made tougher by virtue of the fact she was called upon to do two more dives than ever before—five compulsory and seven optional, in comparison with the ten required previously.

It was also made tougher still by the entry list, which listed indoor champion Meyers of Indian Spring, C.J.; Jeanie Stunyo and Barbara Gilders of Detroit, and Ann Cooper of Cedar Rapids, Mich.

This called for the peak of condition, plus the minimum of constant polish right up to the moment of truth.

She didn't have it.

She is the first to admit it.

It was a bitter pill to swallow.

HOW NOW.

Her next move? She doesn't honestly know herself. She awaits the mandate of her peers.

In all probability, she will be exonerated, or maybe tolerated by her club—for doing what she felt was right.

In all probability, she will go back into tough training after having "relaxed" this summer, and sweep the Empire Games in Cardiff, Wales, next year.

It is also probable she will go on training hard for two years after that, and after a tough challenge to the world in Rome in 1960.

But right now things just look tough.

ACES RECEIVE TROPHY

Kelowna's Super-Valu Aces were re-crowned city and interior champions on Sunday when they beat the Kamloops Angels two straight in the valley finals.

Above, the Aces' captain, Anita Stewart, left, is seen receiving the W. S. King Memorial Trophy, from the late Mr. King's daughter, Rosemary King. The award

Kelowna Riders
Fare Famously
At Vernon Show

Nicholas Van der Vliet, of Kelowna, won the W. T. Cameron trophy for the novice dressage, an exercise originated by Mr. Cameron of Vernon, known widely in the Okanagan as "Jock Cameron", at the 12th annual horse show and gymkhana sponsored by the Vernon District Riding Club Saturday and Sunday, August 17 and 18.

With typical August weather, the event drew the largest number of spectators in its history, and saw 86 horses from Naramata through to Kamloops and Pritchard entered in 31 classes.

The show, held in the club grounds on Aberdeen Road, Coldstream, was opened by Mary Clark, vice-president of the Vernon District Riding Club, in the absence of the president, C. S. Latimer.

The gymkhana championship, awarded to the rider winning the grand aggregate of points in the gymnastics events went to Allan Hyndman, of Penticton, closely trailed by Tom White of Kelowna. Mr. Hyndman won the Riding Club trophy.

Sally Clayton of Kelowna, won the award for junior and intermediate aggregate and took the Mrs. W. McGee Armstrong Memorial Trophy to the Orchard City in its initial year.

Tom Collins was ring master. The judges were Miss Lynn Webster and Miss Barbara Berkshire. Whippers-in were M. H. Symons and Major M. A. Curwen, with show secretary being Sam A. Shaw.

Judges were Colonel E. Poole, formerly of Kelowna, now of Vernon; and Colonel K. Ruteznaki, of Pritchard.

Van der Vliet won the award for the dressage; Diana Knowles of Kelowna, riding G. D. Cameron's horse "Legs" placed second; and Miss Anne Jackson, of Vernon, on Simba, third.

There was prize money at stake in the Western Stock Horse trials, won by Gus McDonald of Kelowna; Miss Lydia Bishop, Vernon; 3. L. Laird, Kamloops.

Easier Access To Mountain
Lakes "Must" For Okanagan

With the steady increase in population in Kelowna and district and throughout the whole Okanagan comes the problem of retaining the good sport-fishing that we have enjoyed in the past and are still enjoying.

A high percentage of the new residents are taking up the great sport of fishing and, added to this is the ever increasing number of tourist fishermen, which the good highways are bringing here.

All this adds up to a very high fishing pressure on the easily accessible lakes, and the problem is going to be to keep these lakes producing at the high rate they are now. It is doubtful if this can be done if more fishing pressure is applied in the future and that pressure will come.

The steps to take, I believe, are to provide more and better access to the lakes in the mountains that we have that are not now accessible, or that have access only by jeep road or by foot trails.

Now is the time to start asking the Department of Recreation to start planning and making roads into these lakes.

One set of lakes in particular that would provide a great deal of real good fishing for the residents of the Okanagan is Pennask and surrounding lakes. To have reasonable access to these lakes about seven miles of new road would have to be built beyond the present road into the area.

These lakes are back of Peachland and are in the Nicola watershed and to reach them now means a trip either via Kamloops or Princeton—too long a run for Okanagan residents for a day's fishing.

A road into these lakes would also open up the best moose hunting area in this district and would also be a great help to the Summerland fish hatchery operation, with their present egg collection station on Pennask.

There are many other mountain lakes in this district that access is needed to, there is a whole string of lakes west of Bear Lake which have excellent fishing, but have practically no access.

Also now that there is fair road access to the Graystone area, the lakes there, especially Oacli, should be restocked regularly.

With the better weather for the past week fishing has been fair and much more pleasant. Okanagan Lake is producing a lot of kokanee and a few trout. From reports being received kokanee are being taken all over the lake, with the best lure being the willow troll with worms or with a No. 3 tee spoon trailed behind.

Beaver and the Dee Lake chain have been somewhat slower of late with the best catches reported being taken in spinner and worm. This has also been the condition on Oya Lake. Very late evening rises are reported in all these lakes for better fishing. Eagle Dam reports have not been good.

Emerson Lake is fair with a few large fish left and lots of smaller ones. Boats for hire are now available there.

Hidden Lake reports are not good. There evidently has been a summer kill of fish in this lake, probably from the very heavy plankton growth in the lake.

The big ones were biting again in Shuswap Lake over the weekend as Tom Yamahota and Harry Hirozawa brought back good catches of Kamloops trout up to 12½ lbs. They were fishing in Annie Arm on the east side using trolls and large plugs. Shuswap Lake has taken all the monthly prizes to date in the fish derby for local anglers.

In stream fishing a lot of fun is being had in fishing for the small brook trout in the upper parts of Mission Creek. It is a good report to go for a days using also Trepanier and Deep Creeks provide a lot of fun for the stream fishermen even if the trout are small. There is no size limit this season in water level is much lower which this area.

TENDERS

The Board of School Trustees of School District No. 23 (Kelowna) will accept tenders for the construction of an addition to the Kelowna Senior High School. Plans and specifications, instructions to bidders and forms of tender may be obtained from Barrett & Woodworth Assoc. Architects, 513 Lawrence Ave., Kelowna, at noon Tuesday, Aug. 20, on deposit of $10 which is refundable on return of plans and specifications in good condition.

Tenders will close and be opened at 7:30 p.m., on August 29, 1957, at the School Board Office of School District No. 23 (Kelowna).

Certified cheque or Security Bond must accompany all tenders.

Lowest, or any tender, not necessarily accepted.

New method for saving and improving hair will be demonstrated by M. D. Harrison in Kelowna at the Royal Anne Hotel on Friday, August 23.

New Home Treatment Holds
Hope For Those Threatened
With Baldness

Many old-fashioned misconceptions about baldness are being discarded these days with the discovery of new and improved methods of treating the hair and scalp, M. D. Harrison, Specialist has revealed.

Men who once shrugged off their gradual loss of hair as an unavoidable fact — something they just had to put up with because of heredity, etc. — are being shown that there is something they can do about it in all except a small minority of cases.

M. D. HARRISON HAIR AND SCALP SPECIALIST, through his intense research has brought out amazing methods for treating local disorders of the hair and scalp. The promise that this research now holds out to balding men and women is contained in a remarkably effective method of home treatment which can be employed easily by anyone once the examination determines the cause of your individual hair and scalp problems.

NEW METHOD DEMONSTRATED IN KELLOWNA

The HARRISON method of treatment is being demonstrated this week in this city by the well-known Hair and Scalp Specialist—M. D. Harrison, Chief Administrator of the Harrison Hair and Scalp Clinic. His years of experience and skill as an expert on hair and scalp problems has enabled thousands of people doomed to baldness to again enjoy healthier and thicker hair.

M. D. Harrison will be here only one day, and in that time is giving residents of this city the opportunity to have a free examination and advice on their hair and scalp problems. If you are worrying about your hair going instead of growing — and if you haven't let your hair fall out to the "drumhead" stage — chances are M. D. Harrison can suggest a home treatment for your specific needs.

The complete examination, which puts you under no obligation, will be to the point and limited time.

SHIFTING POPULATION

Around 5,000 Children Return to School Sept. 4

Close to 5,000 school children in this district will return to classrooms in 93 schools September 4. Registration and distribution of text books will highlight the opening day, with classes getting underway at 9 a.m. September 5.

Elementary students total around 3,000, while junior and senior high school pupils will nudge the 2,000 mark.

School board secretary Fred Macklin believes that with the shifting population of Kelowna, due to the construction of the bridge, the pipeline and the fruit picking season, the number of students will definitely change during the next 12 months.

OPTOMETRIST COMING

Murdoch McLeod, Optometrist of Vancouver will be at Anderson's Store building, just outside Kelowna on Vernon Road, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, August 31. —Advt.

Awaiting the "new crop" will be 187 teachers—93 for the elementary schools and 94 for the junior and senior high schools. Number of teachers employed this year is an increase of 15 over 1963-64 term.

New additions in school construction are being made, but some will not be completed in time for the fall opening. Meanwhile shift classes are planned in the elementary grades.

NEW SCHOOLS

Three new elementary structures and one large school addition are being built. Four more rooms are being tacked on to the Raymer Avenue school; a four-classroom school is being built at the north end of Richter Street and smaller schools are being constructed in the Rutland and East Kelowna areas. New Offices are being installed for the central elementary school, and the lunchroom of the junior high is being converted into a badly-needed home economics room.

In the senior high school, a new auto mechanics course has been designed for those boys who want to take a maximum of practical mechanics and a minimum of academic subjects. This course will be independent of the regular industrial arts.

Bert Elford, who this year joined the teaching staff, will instruct in dustrial arts at the junior high and will eventually move to the senior high. A 2,000 square foot addition is being built on to the senior high to accommodate the new auto mechanics course.

SCHOOLS INSPECTED

Also new this year is a music major which enables students to make instrumental music one of their majoring courses in high school. There is however, no change in the music curriculum.

Schools received a complete "spring cleaning" during the two-month holiday period. A maintenance crew of 50 was employed. Boilers, chimneys, windows, walls, floors, plumbing, and roofs were given a thorough inspection. Doors and locks, electrical wiring and water wells in rural areas were examined.

Jones' Boats Will Tackle B.C. Gold Cup

Restless IV is undergoing repairs for the ruptured sponson she suffered at the Osoyoos Lake Regatta last week-end, and will join with Art Jones' other power boats in a determined onslaught on the Lake Hatzic B.C. Gold Cup races this Sunday.

Restless III, winner of both heats in the 225 class at Osoyoos under the capable hands of Jim McGuire of Vancouver, will be back in the lists again.

At Osoyoos, Restless IV was leading her stable mate, with jockey Fergus Black at the helm, when she ruptured the sponson, and had to withdraw.

McGuire went on to win the "free-for-all" race in Osoyoos, also outdistancing Bill Muncey, famous race driver, in "Thriftyway," Jr., namesake of the big Gold Cup winner.

Roger Cottle of Kelowna will take Miss Kelowna, Jones' class "E" runabout, to Hatzic, but whether he or Jones will race her will depend on the old maestro of the motors himself.

Restless IV, the most recent addition to Jones' stable, will have to do a powerful lot of winning to get up into the class of her predecessors, who have won a lot of jewelry in their time.

Alumni of UBC Plans Reunion Here Sept. 6

W. R. C. Jones, vice-president of industrial relations for the Powell River Company, will be guest speaker at the first annual get-together of alumni of the UBC business management course on Friday, September 6.

Mr. Jones will speak on "Changing Industrial Relations" at the banquet preceding a dance at the Aquatic.

Professor Leslie Wong will represent the faculty of commerce. Other professors may also attend.

The alumni group was formed last spring at the termination of a four-year course held in Vernon under the joint sponsorship of Vernon and Kelowna boards of trade. At that time, an annual bursary to help some Okanagan student specialize in commerce at the university was established.

Ian F. Greenwood is president of the alumni group, and R. H. Cull of Vernon is secretary.

Aldermen Want To See Plans Of Funeral Home

City council wants to see proposed plans for a funeral home before acting on a request to rezone a 20x78 foot lot at the corner of Pender and Royal Avenue.

Arthur R. Clarke, of Kelowna Funeral Directors, plans to renovate a large house situated on this lot, and also construct a 40x60 addition. It was stated that the two buildings would occupy less than one third of the total area.

However, before making a decision on rezoning the area, aldermen agreed they wanted to see proposed building plans.

Trains in Russia Remarkably Fast

By MARGARET ALDERSON
(Miss Alderson is a Canadian newspaper woman touring Russia with a group of Canadians)

LENINGRAD—This morning we arrived in Leningrad. The overnight trip from Moscow was made in what is regarded as Russia's finest train, the Red Arrow.

The cars were divided into compartments, holding two people each. Luggage is stacked on a shed built over the corridor. Between the two berths was a small, white table.

There were washrooms at each end of the car. At each stop, the doors were automatically locked. This brought some embarrassment to one of our party, who tried to emerge after the train had stopped.

The train journey was surprisingly smooth, with the jerks at the stops. We opened the window as soon as we were in motion, but closed it in a hurry. We were covered with black soot in no time.

Porters on the train were women. Ours was most obliging, and brought us tea first thing in the morning.

Our first quick tour around Leningrad took us to a few of the historic sites. We visited the St. Ives Cathedral, which took 40 years to build. On December Square we saw a huge monument to St. Peter, who is shown riding on the crest of a wave of granite, stamping on a snake (his enemies) underneath.

At this point I was surrounded by a swarm of young boys, one of whom spoke a little English. On learning I was from Canada, there was an immediate request to trade some of their coins for Canadian ones. I had only a penny which I exchanged for a little coin, but they insisted I take in exchange as a souvenir, a 15 kopeck coin.

FEW FLOWERS

We visited the famous Peter and Paul Cathedral fortress, from which no prisoner escaped for 210 years.

Our guides were very anxious to show us the many parks of Leningrad. There we saw thousands of people, families out on picnics, others swimming, playing games and reading. Some couples sat on park benches, holding hands. The grass in the parks here, as in Moscow, was rough and uncut, and few flowers were to be seen.

In Leningrad the streets are narrower than in Moscow. As we drove along we saw many fine buildings, but also many working people's tenements. Workers were busy repairing and remodeling many of the run-down buildings.

We have seen very few dogs since arriving in Russia. Today, I saw only the second cat I have seen. I also saw for the first time, a man wearing a hair net.

It was quite an experience to visit the beauty parlor in the hotel. In spite of the language difference, I managed to make the girl understand what I wanted. The methods were rather crude compared with those used in similar establishments in Canada, but the result was the same, and it was quite satisfactory.

During a walk of an hour and a quarter on the Nevski Prospekt, Leningrad's main street, I was told four times, by young Russians, "You are the first Canadian I have ever seen."

Three of our party decided to go window shopping. Each time we stopped, a little crowd gathered around us in curiosity.

A girl about 17 touched my arm and said, "Do you speak English?" I told her we were Canadians.

"You are the first Canadian I have ever seen. May I speak English to you for a little while?"

She walked along with us, pointing out some of the historic buildings, and, incidentally, giving us a little lesson in Russian. She had two enthusiasms—Leningrad and being able to speak English.

CURIOUS ABOUT CANADA

This experience was repeated with another girl, and with two youths, all of whom spoke English fairly fluently. They were curious to know about Canada. The girl recognized the names of Toronto and Ottawa.

One of the young men was a chemical engineer, who spoke and looked just like a Canadian. He was intensely pleased when we told him so, and admitted an interest in Canada.

He told us that at the University of Leningrad students have a choice of learning French, German or English.

Rather wistfully, it seemed, he said he would like to come to Canada, and leave us.

STATE OWNS LAND

It is possible to build and own a home in Russia. But the home-owner never owns the land on which the home is built. The land always belongs to the state. If it is needed for some public purpose, it can be reclaimed and the home owner has no redress. But he owns the house and can sell it at a profit, if he can find a buyer.

A five-roomed house is a big house. Most of them have only three rooms—kitchen, bedroom and sitting room. Usually they have outside toilets. But they do have electricity, running water, and in some cases, a heating system. A good frame three-room house can be built for 20,000 roubles, or, at the special tourist rate of exchange, $2,000. Such homes, however, are only built out in the country. Only if $154. She replaces Mrs. Frances apartment buildings, are being erected in the cities.

Rutland Sawmill Workers Favor Present Union

RUTLAND—Employees of Rutland Sawmill, by a 2-1 vote, favored retention of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers' Union, local 2771, AFL, as certified bargaining agent in the plant. The government-supervised vote was taken Tuesday.

Every one of the 61 eligible voters cast ballots. Forty were cast in favor of the LSWU, and 21 for the IWA.

The International Woodworkers of America endeavored to woo back the mill workers. Employees broke away from the IWA about ten years ago and affiliated with the LSWU.

BCFGA Captures Top PNE Award

First prize in the class of district agricultural exhibits in the 1958 PNE has been awarded to the Okanagan valley entry.

The prize includes a handsome Dewar Shield and $500 in cash. The exhibit was planned and constructed by the PNE committee of BCFG, Chairman of the group is W. O. June, of Naramata. Other BCFG members are E. J. Hack, Oliver, and J. M. Kosty, Vernon. The B.C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board is represented on the committee by P. G. James.

NEW EMPLOYEE

Miss Marilyn Diane Klingtson has been appointed bookkeeper and typist in the city hall. Council this week put her on three-month probation at a salary of $144 a month. If satisfactory, Miss Klingtson's scale will be boosted to first year classification with a salary only built out in the country. Only if $154. She replaces Mrs. Frances apartment buildings, are being erected in the cities.

Mercury Climbs To 85 For First Time This Month

Thurs., August 21, 1957

However, Kelownians are not complaining. After a somewhat cool spring and summer, Old Sol has at last focused his attention on the Okanagan. Although evenings are cool and darkness is falling earlier, city parks and beaches are popular places for children and adults.

It took Christopher Columbus 71 days to reach America.

Every Effort Should be Made For Bridge Opening in Spring

One matter which should be giving considerable concern to the municipal and other officials and the people of the Central Okanagan is the opening date for the new bridge.

Premier Bennett has stated on more than one occasion that it would be opened "early in 1958". We hope he is right, but construction people have consistently stated that it would not be before September next year, and now the "rumor date" has been shoved back to "not earlier than late October".

It must be obvious to any person who has travelled south from here, or has even casually watched the ferry lineups, that another summer of travel such as this will result in complete chaos in Valley transportation. It now takes—and has most of the summer—longer to cross the lake from Westside than it does to drive from Penticton to Westside. The present general experience during the day is to watch two ferries pull out and leave you still waiting. This happens so consistently that it is normal.

It cannot be denied that there is a steady increase in traffic. Local or Valley traffic has increased very considerably and distant or through traffic has increased very materially, and there is no indication that there is any slowing down of the increases. Local people have noted that coast people who formerly wondered "why a bridge is needed", this year were asking anxiously if they "would have to put up with the ferries again next year." Their viewpoint has changed radically.

It is our understanding that the concrete contract will be finished about on schedule and that the piers, pontoons and anchors will all be ready and in place by February next. Government authorities have stated on more than one occasion that the steel and the concrete contracts would proceed simultaneously and that steel would be ready for erection immediately the concrete contract was finished. Now, however, if rumor can be credited, this is very far from the case.

It has been suggested locally that the opening date should be during the 1958 regatta. With this point of view we cannot agree at all. In the first place the bridge opening would be but a small part of the regatta and it is much too important for that.

Moreover, if the government stages a proper ceremony such as was done on the Hope-Princeton Highway, the opening will draw thousands of people to the Okanagan and all Valley towns will share in it. In Kelowna the town is crowded to capacity at regatta time. The bridge opening would only make accommodation problems that much more serious. And, too, the selfish, but natural, viewpoint is to have the opening at another time in order that the town might play host to two capacity crowds during the summer.

One other angle is that the bridge opening could result in much favorable publicity throughout Canada and the Pacific Northwest which would be minimized if the opening were at regatta time. The Okanagan Cariboo Trail Association, for instance, might run a caravan from Klamath Falls, Oregon and another from Prince George.

But more important than these important factors is the need for the better travel facilities which the bridge will provide during the early summer and before the regatta. The truth is that the three dear old ladies which we call the ferries have outlived their usefulness now and their incapacity is strangling the whole Okanagan. The Valley just cannot afford to go through another summer such as this and we suggest that now is the time for the Kelowna city council and the board of trade and their opposite numbers in all Valley towns to get busy and urged that every effort be made to have the bridge in operation, not in October or September or even August, but not a day later than June 1st of next year.

It was originally scheduled for April or earlier, according to our information. What, then, is apparently delaying it another six months? Were that six months in the winter season it would be annoying but not so serious, but six months delay eliminates the use of the bridge during the summer season and that, as is readily apparent for anyone with eyes to see, is a very, very serious matter.

If contractors are dragging their feet, the government should build a figurative fire under them. If they are not, and the bridge is still scheduled to be opened in the early spring, it should be so stated. Lacking this assurance, every organization in every Valley town should be asking why and pressing for the very earliest possible opening date.

Has Prospects And Backlog

In spite of some changes which did not apply last year, it is difficult to hold a bleak view of British Columbia's prospects for the balance of the current year or in the immediate future. If all else fails, there is a backlog of indicated development long past the planning stage to add to the normal and growing requirements of a province which is still taking in new settlers at a fairly brisk pace. Lumber, newsprint, metals and other exports, both primary and manufactured, may for a time have more difficult markets to contend with abroad but they are not insalable; far from it. In any state of economic weather, British Columbia has basic products to sell which the world needs.

At the present time, British Columbia is about midway in a progression of industrial and other extensions which have provided fresh stimulus to economic prospects of the province. Railway construction, highway building, industrial plant expansion, pipelines, renewal of school plants and also the thousand and one needs that attend the inflow of new settlement may certainly be conditioned by the times, but there is little prospect of this province running out of either opportunities or its own work. It is more likely that the impetus generated by the brisk strides of the past few years will carry forward a degree of progress that will offset changes in the export marketing picture.

More so today than in other times, British Columbia has a widely diversified field of opportunity coupled with a resilience in its commercial life which should stand it in good stead whatever is to come. There are few provinces in Canada which on a per capita basis have more practical grounds upon which to base a sturdy and realistic confidence in its own future. There in perspective is a balanced view, and little has occurred to shade it.

If You're Lost, Follow Water

Down around Wenatchee the other day there was re-enacted an oft-repeated story. An army officer went fishing in the hills and was lost for twelve days. He finally stumbled out of the woods into civilization near Cle Elum after he had been given up as a victim of some hitch-hiker he had picked up.

He must have been a very bewildered fisherman to walk over a week in a 10-mile circle. The route took him up hillside and down, through brush and undergrowth.

The incident brings to mind the advice of an experienced mountaineer—advice that anyone who hikes or fishes or hunts in the back country should always remember. If you're lost, go downhill. In this country, if you follow the downgrade of a stream you are bound to come out in civilization. Every stream in this area eventually finds its way to Okanagan Lake while if you should have crossed the crests of the ridge, down hill will bring you out into another habitated valley. If you can't find a stream, follow a ravine or canyon down hill. Or, if the going is easier, follow a ridge on the downward slope.

If you go across country, the chances are you will go in a circle; to the left if you're left handed, to the right if you're right handed. Had the army officer down in Washington gone down stream, he would have been lost, not twelve, but less than two days.

IN EVENT OF DISASTER

Criminals Will Show up

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Nuclear war and natural disaster can wipe out whole populations in a twinkling. Thus, Civil Defence is important to the Okanagan Valley. Courier staffer Norman Gotro has been reporting on Valley CD in a series of articles. Here is the third of five reports.)

By NORMAN GOTRO

Criminals are cowards at best. And in national emergency or natural disaster, they may be expected to live up to their yellow color.

Okanagan Valley Civil Defence Co-ordinator J. H. Horn says this is a problem he and his officers will have to face in the Valley Reception Area in the event of emergency.

Should Vancouver be attacked without warning, for example, there would be a "crash" evacuation. Col. Horn says it is likely the first wave of refugees will be malcontents.

DOPE FIENDS TOO

At least, large numbers of the shady Vancouver element would be first in line to escape tragedy.

CD officers would have to deal with denizens of skid road; dope addicts; hardened criminals, prostitutes and the diseases which attend these notorious characters.

Thus, Civil Defence officers have to thoroughly trained and selected for "tough" duties, as well as the more humanitarian acts. Some of these characters from the underworld could start a looting spree, the co-ordinator says, in which case an on-the-spot authority must be called in to play.

To handle this, the law says that after the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council has declared an area to be in a state of emergency, the Civil Defence co-ordinator automatically assumes all authority of government and police and becomes supreme director of the area. From his rulings, there is no appeal.

He can order looters to be shot on sight.

Thus, choice of co-ordinators is not made in haste and men who have been selected for all Canadian areas realize the grave responsibility attached to their positions.

Of this responsibility, Col. Horn says he welcomes, gratefully, the advisory committees "because it would be difficult to dictate arbitrarily" and even the easiest problem can be solved the better with several heads.

SIX DUTIES

On the other hand, where a committee or an officer is squeamish in a given situation, the co-ordinator can move in and direct if he wishes.

Meanwhile, Civil Defence co-ordinators and their staffs have six precise duties laid down.

They are expected to organize CD services in the area and subdivide; organize welfare centres to receive, register and billet evacuees; take measures to rehabilitate evacuees; train CD personnel in their duties; take steps to reduce effect of enemy action or natural disaster; and be familiar with all sections of the Civil Defence Act (1937).

Col. Horn explains experience has shown refugees evacuated from disaster areas, as a rule, have been rushed to reception camps with little in the way of personal comforts or equipment.

In some instances, he added, many have been unable to join their families for the movement.

As a result, large sections of evacuated humanity will be in such an emotionally disturbed state as to require special treatment.

Here again is a job for CD preparedness. There will be little time for screening and sorting into categories, such as age groups, and single or married.

"The job, in this case," Col. Horn continued, "is a toughie. That is why it is so essential to choose CD officers carefully and to train them thoroughly. At times it will be necessary to move at top speed, but with regard to humanity, CD, therefore, is no job for cream puffs ... nor is it a job for bulls in china shops."

CD-MINDKNESS

But say Canadian CD authorities, work of area co-ordinators is relieved to a great extent by people themselves. If they too get "CD-minded", Housewives are urged to keep seven-day emergency food supplies on hand, because one of the basic problems in all disasters is food.

CD says to estimate how much food is needed for seven days, multiply number of persons in the family by amounts required for one person. Any doctor can give amounts and the foodstuffs.

Also, every home in a target or reception area should keep on hand salt and sugar, matches, fuel, cooking utensils, a can opener and tableware. In addition, useful items are portable radios, flashlights, candles, first aid kits, blankets.

And on the brighter side, a supply of games for children.

CD officers often quote the most astute, CD-minded person they ever knew was Sir Winston Churchill: "Winnie" always kept on hand a big supply of cigars, well protected.

DO IT NOW

If there ever was a time when efforts of federal and provincial departments of agriculture should be concentrated on (stabilizing) the agriculture industry, that time is now—Parksville (B.C.) Progress.

Regatta Chairman Answers Editorial

Regatta chairman R. F. Parkinson has replied to an editorial published recently in the Penticton Herald regarding the reasons for switching the dates of next year's water show.

Following is the text of a letter sent to W. A. Rathbun, president of the Peach Festival:

Dear Sir:

The writer, Chairman of the Kelowna International Regatta committee has just read the editorial in the Penticton Herald, headed "Change in Regatta Dates to Accommodate Princess".

It is most unfortunate for Okanagan inter-city public relations that the Editor of the Herald jumped to conclusions for the basis of this editorial.

Last Fall (1956) the writer contacted Mr. Maurice Finnerty, then President of the Peach Festival, advising that due to the Seattle Seafair continually conflicting with Kelowna Regatta dates, thus making it impossible to get any worthwhile power boats to our Regatta, we were going to be forced to move our dates back a week. It was suggested to Mr. Finnerty that this might occur in 1957 and almost certainly in 1958. Mr. Finnerty was naturally most concerned but agreed to discuss the matter with his committee. We were later advised that if absolutely necessary the Peach Festival committee would consider moving its dates one week ahead but could not go conflict with PNE. We were asked to set our 1957 dates as quickly as possible as naturally Penticton had to advise Square Dance groups throughout the Pacific Northwest so as not to conflict. Another meeting of our Regatta executive was held as soon after this as possible and it was decided to forego the emphasis on power boats for 1957 and stay with our usual dates, but to really feature power boats and, if possible, the big Unlimited Class boats for 1958, centennial year.

Mr. Finnerty was out of the city when we advised that we were going to stay with our normal dates in 1957, but either the secretary or the vice-president was advised accordingly.

Early in 1957 our Regatta committee was asked to stage Kelowna's Centennial Celebration. This our committee agreed to do and the B.C. Centennial committee was advised, by its local group, of this fact and of the dates for 1958, August 13th to 16th.

The one mistake that was made, and the writer accepts the full responsibility, was that the Penticton Regatta Festival committee were not advised officially of our change of dates for 1958, even though the suggestion had been made that this was a distinct possibility.

To err is human and the writer regrets the apparent lack of courtesy in this respect. The relations between the committees that handle the two great Okanagan summer attractions have been excellent in the past and it is my hope that this relationship will continue in the future.

Hoping the above will serve to correct some of the misunderstanding.

Yours sincerely,

R. F. PARKINSON,
Chairman, Kelowna International Regatta

ANNUAL MEETING

Road Boosters Holding Parley September 6-7

The annual convention of the Okanagan Cariboo Trail Association in Wenatchee, Washington, on September 6 and 7 will mark a quarter of a century of progress in the history of the OCTA. Association President George C. Hay of Kamloops, British Columbia, stated today.

"The dollars and cents value of the tourist industry and the importance of good hosts to visitors in every community will be covered by two outstanding speakers well versed on the subject of tourism," he said.

"The highway construction program of the states of Oregon and Washington and the Province of British Columbia will be presented by the directors of each highway department. An up-to-the-minute report will be made on the Okanagan Bridge and the bridge across the Columbia River at Biggs Rapids. The speaker for the Friday night banquet is of international reputation and will set the stage for the entire program that follows," Hay continued.

"Preliminary programs are being mailed to all communities. Reservations should be requested as soon as possible. Every board of trade and chamber of commerce and commercial club on Highway 97 should make plans now to be represented."

"The Kamloops Board of Trade will sponsor a caravan from Kamloops to Wenatchee, with Max Smith the Caravan Marshal," Hay concluded.

DOCTOR GIVES UP MEDICINE FOR ARCTIC TOURIST BUSINESS

A doctor with the Arctic in his blood is setting out from Toronto with his family, to make the word "snowbird" part of the language. The doctor, Joe Moody, left, formerly of Manitowish Island, Ont., has outfitted a 58-foot, $30,000 motorship the "Snowbird" at right, which he intends to use in the northwestern part of Hudson Bay, taking tourists, researchers and explorers on what he hopes will eventually become a regular tourist's haunt. The doctor first became interested in the eastern Arctic 12 years ago when he was sent to vaccinate the Eskimos following his graduation from medical school. He has been going back for periodic visits ever since and has, for the last two summers, been running tours in the Hudson Bay area. This year, however, he decided to get into the business in a big way with his ship, which he designed to stand the rough waters and floating ice of the bay.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Details of the visit of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip to Ottawa October 12-16 were announced, and within a few hours there was a controversy.

Traditionally, the Governor-General's Foot Guard, in peacetime a reserve army unit, provide the guard of honor for the Governor-General at the opening of Parliament. They have been doing this for 50 or 60 years.

But when the Queen opens Parliament October 14, the guard of honor will be provided by the Regiment of Canadian Guards, a regular army unit.

The Foot Guards are indignant about not being able to provide the guard of honor at the opening of Parliament by the Queen, the first time in history that this will be done by a reigning monarch.

"TOGGED ASIDE"

"They don't think we're good enough," said a senior militia officer. "For decades, in the snow and rain and sleet, we provide the guard of honor. When the plums come along, we're tossed aside."

The honorary Lieutenant-Colonel of the Foot Guards is Hon. Brooke Claxton, former Liberal defence minister. He and other senior militia officers are understood to have made official protest to Defence Minister G. B. Pearson and Lt. Gen. Howard D. Graham, Chief of the General Staff.

The Queen, the itinerary shows, will make a national TV and radio address Sunday, October 13, at 9 p.m. EDT. On the following day the Queen will open Parliament, and her reading of the Throne Speech from the Senate chamber will be broadcast nationally by television and radio. The ceremony will start at 3 p.m. EDT.

Prince Philip will deliver a radio address but the time has not yet been set.

Queen Elizabeth will arrive at Uplands airport outside Ottawa, at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, October 12. During the visit the Queen and Prince Philip will stay at Government House, official residence of Governor-General Massey.

FUTURE OF LIBERALS

Lt. Gen. Chastain Louis St. Laurent and members of his former cabinet met in Ottawa for two days to discuss the party's future.

After the meeting, Mr. St. Laurent indicated he will make at least one more try to recapture government power before retiring.

The 75-year-old opposition leader, his party beaten in the June 10 vote, indicated to reporters he will be on deck for the next Parliament and will lead the Liberal party into another election if one is called by next spring.

But he would not go beyond that. Some observers felt the Liberals would hold a new leadership convention if it appears the Progressive Conservatives can hold onto office for more than a year.

Mr. St. Laurent told a press conference, however, that the question of changing the Liberal leadership was not discussed at the two-day meeting.

SATISFACTORY NOTE

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is satisfied that United States government agencies will not misuse security information about Canadians supplied by his government.

He told reporters that he accepts a United States note on the subject as an undertaking that such information will not be used in a manner unacceptable to Canada.

The U.S. note made public last week was the culmination of Canadian inquiries as to how information in a document concerning Henry Norman, former Canadian ambassador to Egypt, came to be made public by a U.S. senate internal security sub-committee. Mr. Norman committed suicide in Cairo last April following allegations that he once had been a Communist.

The note contained an implicit promise that information on Canadians furnished the executive branch of the U.S. government would not be distributed to agencies over which the executive has no control, without the consent of Canada. A senate sub-committee would be such an agency.

Mr. Diefenbaker said while the United States note is not implicit "it seems evident that the directive given United States agencies concerning their procedures in handling security information is consistent in substance with the assurance Canada has sought."

POSTAL CONVENTION

The largest international convention in Ottawa's history started last week and will continue in session for another five weeks. It is the 14th congress of the 96-country Universal Postal Union.

On the third day of the congress there was a conflict of political opinion between east and west. The Soviet bloc of delegates demanded admittance into the union of Red China and communist East Germany.

The Russians and other communist countries argued that neither the Chinese Nationalists nor the West German regime really represented their countries. Their arguments were opposed by a number of western countries, including the United States and the United Kingdom.

Chief U.S. delegate George Siedle said the communist arguments were like the "replaying of some old records."

ALLEGED COMBINE

Most Canadian manufacturers producing metal culverts have been accused by the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission of having taken part in an illegal price-fixing combine over a period of years.

The commission, in a report to Justice Minister David Fulton, recommended that court action be sought if necessary to break the combine and change the industry's policies to give buyers a "better break."

Culverts are used mainly for drainage. Big Canadian buyers are federal, provincial and municipal governments, railways and airports.

Thirteen firms were named in the commission's report. Biggest of these is Armo Drainage and Metal Products of Canada Ltd., of Guelph, Ont., a subsidiary of an American firm with plants in nearly every province.

SPENDTHRIFTS

Since the time Adam sneaked up on the old apple tree and tasted of the forbidden fruit, people have been trying to get something for nothing. But we find it difficult to understand the thinking of some people who will think nothing of spending $10 or $15 to attend some entertainment in the city but refuse a dollar to see a local event.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

Parents Warned To Be On Alert When Children Return To School

In the next few weeks approximately 5,000 children in Kelowna school district will be back in classrooms.

For the beginner, it will be the first time they have had wide contact with other children. Such contact likely means exposure for the first time to communicable diseases so parents can expect several bouts with different illnesses.

For the more serious diseases, St. John Ambulance warns that children should be immunized—and if they have been immunized as infants, they should have booster doses before they start school. These diseases include diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and smallpox. Diphtheria and smallpox have almost been eliminated in this country by immunization and so little is heard of them. Now that parents are apt to become complacent and forget the dreadful damage they can cause. However, these diseases are not by any means wiped out and St. John Ambulance says that there is a continuing need for immunization if they are to be avoided.

EARLY SYMPTOMS

Early recognition of symptoms and prompt treatment will help to lessen the severity of communicable diseases and to prevent complications. Parents should watch for these symptoms:

Sore throat, fever and head cold. Vomiting and loss of appetite. Irritability or unusual drowsiness.

Muscle weakness and neck rigidity. Rash and sensitivity of the eyes to light.

A child showing any of these symptoms should be put to bed, kept warm and quiet and given plenty of fluids to drink (if he is not vomiting). He should be kept apart from other children until it is certain whether or not an infectious disease is developing.

A doctor should be called as soon as the child appears ill.

In addition to immunization, a child's resistance to infection can be increased by seeing that he obtains sufficient sleep and rest. Eats regular meals and has an adequate diet.

Gets sunshine, fresh air and exercise each day.

Gives prompt attention to cuts, abrasions and other wounds. Wears suitable clothing in cold and wet weather.

Keeps his person and surroundings scrupulously clean, paying particular attention to clean hands and finger nails. He should be taught to keep hands, pencils, pens, money and other such objects away from his mouth.

LETTER TO EDITOR

FERRY TRAFFIC

The Editor, Kelowna Courier

Dear Sir:

During the Regatta three ferries working at full capacity were unable to keep the traffic moving smoothly.

Next year, centennial year with the Lieutenant-Governor taking up his residence here covering the Regatta period, traffic will be considerably in excess of this year. With the same complement of ferries complaints from the public and tourists will be loud and vociferous against Highway 97 with its inadequate transportation across Okanagan Lake. Indirectly this will hurt the city business.

Is it not possible to bring sufficient pressure on the appropriate authorities that the work be expedited and the bridge be completed before the Regatta of 1958.

Yours sincerely,

D. C. UNWIN, SIMSON

B.C. Motorists Urged Make Turns On Red Lights

A B.C. Automobile Association spokesman today urged motorists in the province to take advantage of legislation permitting right turns on red lights.

"This privilege benefits all drivers by speeding up traffic flow generally," said Harry Duker, chairman of the club road committee.

He coupled his advice however, with a warning that the onus is on the driver to yield right of way to other traffic and pedestrians.

A revised motor vehicle act was passed by the legislature including permissive right turns against red lights after a stop had been made.

NATIVE HABITS

Former Missionaries In Orient Give Outline Of Experiences

Elder V. T. and Mrs. Armstrong, the second in Malay, "I Have The Experiences of the Orient," both of whom have spent 33 years in the mission field, spoke to an overflow congregation at the Missionary Volunteer Hour in the Rutland Seventh-day Adventist Church, August 17. Elder Armstrong now is field secretary of the world-wide general conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Mrs. Armstrong described the Orient as seen through the eyes of a woman. Wearing a colorful costume that is 15 years old, and similar to those worn by the Igor peoples of the Orient, she said they made their own clothes and their own dyes in colors of reds, blues, greens and yellows that never fade. Describing how the men and women chew the betel-nut which causes their teeth to decay, she went on to tell of the horrible sight of the women who eventually have no teeth left.

In Malaya the women used to wear nothing but the wrap-around skirts, similar to that worn by Mrs. Armstrong, and the men nothing more than a heavy woven nine-inch belt round their waists, with loops hanging front and back. Compelled by the U.S. Army to wear more clothing, the men added hats to their costumes and the women a belt round their waists until the army made the men don trousers or a long shirt or gown, and the women skirts and blouses, or a full dress.

At the close of her talk, Mrs. Armstrong sang two songs, one, in Japanese, "Jesus Loves Me," and the second in Malay, "I Have The Experiences of the Orient," both of whom have spent 33 years in the mission field, spoke to an overflow congregation at the Missionary Volunteer Hour in the Rutland Seventh-day Adventist Church, August 17.

Elder Armstrong gave a resume of the opening of mission work by Seventh-day Adventists in the Orient 60 years ago; during the war years and missionary work today. The first Seventh-day Adventist came 57 years ago in Japan by the name of Okira. Today, there are over 150,000 Seventh-day Adventists in Japan, Korea, the Philippines with some islands in the South Seas being almost entirely Seventh-day Adventists, such as the Island of Pitcairn, upon which the ship "Bounty" landed many years ago.

Today there are 19 hospitals and clinics in Japan and Korea, and a 250-bed hospital at Bangkok. In Burma a few years ago a village chief said that his people had waited seven years for a teacher, and asking how many more years they must wait while their children were growing up, he handed the missionary the greatly-prized object of a man's skill in exchange for a teacher. Elder Armstrong keeps that skull in the trunk of his car. Demands for missionaries and teachers are far greater than the supply, the speaker told his listeners, adding that the plea is for more teachers who will teach these peoples of better way of life.

Pastor Hempel opened the meeting with prayer and scripture-reading.

U.S. Visitor Arrives For Family Reunion

A reunion with her mother, whom she has not seen since she was little more than a baby, and of course does not remember, is being enjoyed by Mrs. Robert A. Coleman, of Redwood City, Calif. Mrs. Coleman, accompanied by her three children: David, 8; Beth, 7; and Chris, 6, arrived to spend two weeks at the home of her mother, Mrs. Harry Hancock, 863 Clement Ave.

Tuesday, Mrs. Coleman's eldest sister, Mrs. Laura Grantham, arrived from Vancouver, and the two sisters are here to be near their mother, who has been a patient in Mrs. J. Sanders, 1946 Bowes St.

Wedding Of Interest To Prairie Residents Solemnized In Kelowna

A wedding of interest to prairie residents as well as those in the Orchard City took place last month when Shirley Irene Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson, Canby, Saskatchewan, became the bride of William Ronald Schimpf, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schimpf, live in Lethbridge, Alberta.

First United Church in Kelowna was decorated with gladioli and baby's breath for the afternoon wedding. Rev. R. S. Leitch officiated.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown, fashioned of white brocaded tulle in princess style, with fingertip veil cascading from brocade. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses, and a white prayer book.

Her attendant, Kathy Baumgarten, wore a pastel pink brocaded gown styled along the same lines as the bride's. Miss Baumgarten carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Art Hall was groomsmen and Mr. Cowley acted as usher. A three tiered wedding cake, baked by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. Johnson of Canby, was set amid white tulle in which nestled pink and red roses. On either side was a tall white taper. On arrival to the reception at the Aquatic Lounge, the bride and bridesmaid placed their bouquets near the centerpiece. Mrs. C. Hall presided at the urns.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Robertson chose a navy blue dress accessorized by pink carnations, gloves and shoes.

The groom responded to a toast proposed by Mr. C. Hall of Winfield.

The newlyweds will make their home at Christina Lake, B.C. following a honeymoon in Washington

Familiar Names Are Represented In Exhibit Of Oils, Water Colors

Several familiar names are represented in the exhibit of oil, water colors and pen and ink sketches now appearing in the library board room, from which it is obvious that the local artists find plenty of outdoor in and near the Okanagan for their skill with brush and pen. One or two of the scenes are European, but for the most part the display consists of local landscapes.

Many moods are apparent in the variety of scenes shown; from the deep blues and browns as depicted in lake and mountain scenes by the Lamons, to the pale-blue shadows of winter snows, and to the cold grey of clouds scudding over a steel-grey lake, as depicted in two paintings by Primrose Upton. This last picture, entitled, "Dirty Day" is typical of those occasional grey days of autumn in which lack of color envelops not only nature, but the mind as well.

Grace M. Willis's scenes painted in the Rockies show the grandeur of that range, and there's a splendid vista of Simpson's Pass, on the Lake Louise-Banff Road, with a mountain lake nestling in the foreground against a background of blue peaks. Another by the same artist is a harbor scene in Brittany.

The wedding will take place September 7, at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Rt. Rev. Msgr. W. B. McKenzie officiating.

HOLIDAYING... Holidaying in the States and going from there to Calgary and other Alberta points are Mr. and Mrs. R. McCaugherty and daughters, Arlene and Donna.

H. A. Perkins pen-and-ink sketches are effectively-drawn local scenes, one of which is the boulevard looking toward the Aquatic. Another is a fine sweep of lake, with hills that gives a better perspective than does the lakefront at the City Park.

W. H. Tassell's scene of Eagle Cliff, at Enderby is typical of that part of the valley, and a group by Emmy Boum of lake and mountains are done in deep colors of reds, blues and greens.

M. A. Morham's trees possess a grandeur and ruggedness that appeals with their quality of stark loneliness. One of these is a tree weighted with snow, while a second painting is of a gnarled tree silhouetted against the depths of a mountain abyss.

This exhibit, which will hang in the library until the end of August, is well worth a visit, reminding spectators of the many and varied beauties of our mountain country.

Late August Rites Forecast

Mrs. Rose DeVlyder announces the engagement of her twin daughter, Mary Rose DeVlyder, 562 Morrison Ave., Kelowna to Mr. Andre Kerckhove, eldest son of Mrs. Joseph Kerckhove.

The wedding will take place at 10 a.m. August 24, in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Kelowna, Rt. Rev. Msgr. W. B. McKenzie officiating.

Yes, it is easy to make successful jam—and jelly too—every time when you rely on Certo

Why CERTO gives you failure-proof jam

Certo is natural fruit pectin. Pectin is the jelling substance found in all fruits in varying amounts. Some fruits have so little they must be boiled and boiled and boiled. Other fruits, with good amounts, must be boiled 20 to 30 minutes before they will jell. But even then you can never be sure of results.

When you use Certo, there's absolutely no guesswork. You boil your fruit hard 1 minute only. You keep the true color and flavor and you get up to 50% more jam because you don't boil the juice away.

You'll be proud to serve the lovely Peach and Pear Jam you make, quickly, easily and so expertly with Certo.

Eat up! No trouble at all to make more!

PEACH AND PEAR JAM

Using B.C. Peaches and B.C. Bartlett Pears
Yields: about 9 medium glasses (4 1/2 lbs. jam)

- 3 1/2 cups prepared fruit (about 1 quart each ripe B.C. Peaches and B.C. Bartlett Pears)
- 1/4 cup lemon juice (2 lemons)
- 6 1/2 cups (2 1/2 lbs.) sugar
- 1/2 bottle Certo Fruit Pectin

First, prepare the fruit. Peel and pit or core about each fully ripe peach and pear. Chop very fine or grind. Combine fruits and measure 3 1/2 cups into a very large saucepan. Squeeze the juice from 2 medium-sized lemons. Measure 1/4 cup into saucepan with fruit. Then, make the jam. Add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Reduce heat to medium, stir for 5 minutes to skim off foam with metal spoon. Then, add pectin, to prevent floating fruit, cook slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with 1/2 inch hot paraffin.

Church Of Immaculate Conception Scene Of Bartier-Schimpf Rites

The Church of Immaculate Conception in Kelowna was the scene of a lovely morning wedding recently when Doreen Margaret Schimpf exchanged marriage vows with Richard Lloyd Bartier, Rev. J. A. Cunningham officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schimpf, of Lethbridge, Alberta. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Bartier, reside in Vancouver.

Gowned in white satin and lace, the bride carried a bouquet of tiny pink roses and a train of white tulle. She wore a white prayer book from which she read the wedding ceremony. Her sister, bridesmaid, Mrs. Elsie Nakagawa, wore a gown fashioned in pink silk and chiffon with matching picture hat and accessories.

Mr. Robert Wilson was groomsmen, and the bride's cousin, Mr. Edward Schimpf, ushered.

As her parents were unable to attend, the bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Harry Nakagawa.

Accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Rita Bach, Mrs. Reg. Martin sang "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register.

Gladioli in pastel shades decorated the reception room at "Chez Louis" for a gathering of family and friends following the wedding ceremony. The tall summer blossoms and candle-light provided a beautiful setting for the wedding cake.

The groom responded to a toast proposed by Father Cunningham.

For her going away ensemble, the bride chose a suit in pale grey, complemented by blue accessories.

After a two-week motor trip to Seattle via Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Bartier will reside at 906 Glenn Avenue in Kelowna.

this year's holiday in a different way, but they are attending the Y-Teen camp, which is a trip to the United States.

HITHER AND YON

U.S. TRIP ... Mr. and Mrs. George Russell, 641 Leon Ave., left Monday by car for a trip in the United States.

ATTENDING TEEN CAMP ... Miss Jean Ritchie and Miss Betty Shuck, 1411 Main St., are attending the Y-Teen president training camp at Camp Fircon on Gambier Island. They will also have a short visit in Vancouver before returning home.

WEEK-END VISITORS ... Mr. and Mrs. Walter Honke, daughter Barbara and sons George and Chubby were guests at the home of Mrs. Ida Herzog, Taylor Road during last week-end. Arriving Thursday from Winnipeg, they left again Monday. This is their second visit to the Okanagan, and they plan to move nearer to the Valley soon.

FROM FLIN FLON ... Mr. and Mrs. Alf Highfield, from Flin Flon, were guests at the home of Mr. Highfield's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Webb, Cadder Ave., during last week-end. Accompanying them was their daughter, Elaine, also of Flin Flon, and a cousin, Margaret Berg, of Russell, Man. The travellers left Monday for a trip south as far as Oregon.

VISITING PARENTS ... Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Perley and children, of Prince Rupert, are spending a few days with the former's parents, Rev. and Mrs. D. M. Perley, Water St.

MOTORED TO ALBERTA VIA U.S. ... Mrs. J. C. Pendleton, Shuswap Ave., and her daughter, Miss Frances Pendleton from North Vancouver, have returned from a motor trip that took them to Spokane, through Glacier National Park and up as far as Edmonton, Alta. Staying with relatives in Spokane, they also visited Mrs. Pendleton's daughters, Mrs. H. Carlson and Mrs. L. Erickson, near Rimbey, Alta., and other relatives in that district. Returning home from their 12-day trip via the Big Bend highway, they found road conditions fairly good.

ENJOYING VISIT HERE ... Mr. and Mrs. C. Emerson Noble, whose home is in Edmonton, are staying with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. DeMara at their Harvey Ave. home. Mr. Noble and Mrs. DeMara are cousins, and always enjoy their visits to Kelowna, where they invariably find beautiful weather such as they are experiencing during their present stay. They were at the coast prior to arriving here last Sunday.

Nine-Month-Old Baby Christened

Rev. D. M. Perley officiated at a christening service held Sunday, August 18, at 3 p.m. at the home of the baby's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Newman, Glenmore, when the nine-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Newman, of Calgary, was given the names, Debra Anne.

The maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Farrow, the great-grandmother, Mrs. Farrow, Sr., immediate relatives, and Mrs. Perley attended the ceremony. Later in the afternoon tea was served.

CBC To Broadcast "Kalamalka" Song Next Saturday

Co-authors Mary Garland and Ed Boyd will have their song "Kalamalka" broadcast over CBC's "Scored by Hyslop" program this Saturday, between 7 and 7:30 p.m. Originally written by Mr. Boyd, the poem has been set in musical form to a haunting score by Mary Garland, and will be performed by the noted young CBC arranger and orchestra leader, Ricky Hyslop, with the vocal being done by "Suzanne" over a coast-to-coast broadcast.

Kelowna was home to Mary (Mrs. Ken Garland) for eight years, until she, with her husband, moved to Vancouver. She has been composing since she was a young girl, until today she has fifty sacred, western and dance songs and tunes neatly stacked away. She has written children's song entitled, "Tale of the Ogoogo," as well as others about the beauty spots of the Okanagan.

Early September Rites Forecast

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McTaggart, Glenora, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Louise Mary-Elia, to Mr. Morris George Andrew Carson, son of Mrs. B. Gordon Carson, R.R.1, Kelowna, and the late Mr. Leo Carson.

The wedding will take place Tuesday, September 10, in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Kelowna.

Quiet Wedding Solemnized Here

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. David's Presbyterian Church, Kelowna, on August 17, when Joan Matton, daughter of Mrs. S. M. Gore, Kelowna, became the bride of Mr. Albert Melville Spring, of New Westminster, the Rev. McBride officiating.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Sons and daughters from the Atlantic to the Pacific met in Kelowna Sunday, Aug. 18 to celebrate the occasion of their parents' golden wedding. They were the two sons and three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Walker, 1328 Richter St., who have lived in Kelowna for the past 12 years. Also present were nine of their 11 grandchildren.

Coming from Forestburg, Alta. were Mr. and Mrs. Phil Walker, and from Oak Park, Illinois, daughter Amelia and her husband, Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Fuchs. Son Jack and his wife came from Toronto, and the second daughter, Freda, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Cembella, from Prince Rupert; also the youngest daughter, Claire and her husband, Lt. Commander Harold Welch, Dartmouth, N.S.

Born and brought up in Russia, Mr. and Mrs. Walker were married in Odessa, and emigrated to the U.S. in 1910. The following year they came to Canada, homesteading near Maple Creek, Sask., after which they went to Alberta. Pioneer residents of Forestburg, Alta. where they lived for 25 years, they retired to the Okanagan in 1945.

Members of Grace Baptist Church held a special service marked Sunday's anniversary, and was followed by a reception given in their honor in the church basement, where they were presented with many gifts, after which refreshments were served. The following day a family reunion took the form of a banquet in the Royal Anne Hotel, attended by 31 members of the family and intimate friends, where a three-tiered wedding cake graced the head table. Out-of-town guests besides the immediate family included Mrs. Walker's sister-in-law, Mrs. Carl Geiser, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Grenz, all from Portland, Oregon.

NEVER AGAIN!

Your Two Week Vacation A Rest Or Made Splurge Of Traveling?

By DOROTHY GELLATLY

Holidays are wonderful. Those who take them get a well-earned rest, restore their frayed nerves, get a fresh outlook on life, and return to their jobs glowing with health and energy.

Sometimes, however, holidays go on a mad splurge of travelling, sight-seeing and shopping. They drain a month's activities into two pitifully short weeks to return home, then weeks to return home more weary than starting out.

The car loaded with soiled clothes, useless souvenirs and crumpled humanity—weatherbeaten and peeling like a spot paint job. And "Never Again!" even if we can boast or thousands of miles added to those already on the speedometer.

EARLY MORNING START
Oh, there was a lot to be seen, but no time to see it in—up early in the morning before anyone else got on the road—only to find practically everyone else with the same idea. Lunch eaten along the road, without stopping to watch the scenery, and just time to make the next large centre to shop and find a motel before they were all filled.

Forest glens, shady and cool, sparkling lakes, bubbling mountain streams, passed by almost without a glance. No time—maybe next year will be different... but it won't be unless we make up our minds to make it different.

And lots of people have concluded that a holiday must include a restful stay by lake, stream, or among cool, shady woods, where mother can relax, dad can fish, or soak up the sun, and swim with the kids, and yet be near enough to bright lights so that an occasional day or evening may be spent shopping, or at the show.

So, if you've come back from

Centennial Committee Holding Competition For One-Act Plays

With a view to promoting the development of Canadian theatre and to encourage British Columbia playwrights and the production of their plays by drama groups throughout the province, the British Columbia Centennial Committee is sponsoring a one-act play competition as part of the province's 100th anniversary celebration in 1958. The committee hopes that as many British Columbia drama groups as possible will undertake to produce the prize-winning plays during the year 1958.

Three prizes will be offered: first prize, $500; second prize, $300, and third prize, $200. In addition, a special award of $100 will be offered for the best play with a historical British Columbia theme.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

1. The one-act Playwriting Competition is open to pre- and former residents of British Columbia.
2. All three prizes, or any one of them, shall be awarded only if, in the opinion of the judges, there are entries meriting these prizes. The decisions of the judges shall be final.
3. Plays submitted shall be original, one-act plays of not more than 40 minutes in length, and shall be in English only.
4. Manuscripts shall be typed on one side of the paper only (size 8 1/2 "x11") and shall be double-spaced. All pages shall be consecutively numbered. Clear differentiation shall be made among the names of characters speaking dialogue, and stage directions.
5. Manuscripts shall be submitted in triplicate, to Playwriting Competition, B.C. Centennial Committee, Parliament Buildings Victoria, B.C., not later than October 31, 1957. Plays received by the B.C. Centennial Committee after that date shall not be eligible for competition.
6. A Stage-Plan showing the layout of the scene and a description of any essential production requirements are desirable.
7. The author's name shall not appear on any manuscript. Title pages shall bear pseudonyms only. Accompanying each play entered shall be a sealed envelope containing the name of the play, the author's pseudonym, and the author's name and address. On the outside of the envelope shall be the name of the play and pseudonym only. The author must use a different pseudonym from that used in any other playwriting competition. The appearance of an author's name or any other mark of identification on a manuscript shall disqualify the entry.

8. Playwrights may submit more than one play each, but each play submitted shall bear a different pseudonym.

9. Manuscripts of prize-winning plays shall be retained by the B.C. Centennial Committee for purposes of duplication and for distribution, during the year 1958, to Drama Groups in British Columbia that may wish to consider producing these plays.

Provision for copywriting the prize-winning plays shall be the responsibility of the authors.

10. The B.C. Centennial Committee produce the prize-winning plays, without the payment of royalties, during the year 1958. The committee reserves the right to print and distribute any entries for production in B.C. without royalties during 1958.

All arrangements for radio or television production of prize-winning plays in the year 1958 shall be made by the B.C. Centennial Committee in consultation with the authors.

11. After 1958 full rights shall revert to the authors. Arrangements for the disposal of outstanding copies of the plays shall be made by agreement between the B.C. Centennial Committee and the authors.

TECHNOLOGY DOESN'T ELIMINATE EXCITEMENT OF STAKE RUSH

Although science has eliminated some of the risk, guesswork and delay, staking claims for mineral deposits is still a thrilling, every-man-for-himself affair. Lac la Ronge in Northern Saskatchewan is the scene of one of the biggest staking rushes this year. It started recently when prospectors were allowed their first glimpse of the first government-sponsored geophysical survey of the 1,700 square mile area, where valuable copper and perhaps nickel deposits may lie.

Within a half-hour of seeing survey maps, this staking party, lands by plane after a 75-mile flight, to be the first in the staking race in the choice area. It would have taken days to reach it by foot or canoe.

Teachers Are Appointed For 21 District Schools

School trustees of district 23 (Kelowna) have announced the personnel for the district's 21 schools.

To date, only two positions remain to be filled, one at the Black Mountain School, and one at Kelowna Senior High School.

A total of fifty new appointments have been made, including those of three new principals for the Okanagan Centre, Ellison and Lakeview schools.

More Parking Meters As Traffic Re-Routed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver's new one-way street plan will give the city's motorists 300 new downtown parking spaces.

The plan will go into effect after a two-week educational campaign in which motorists will have to re-learn their way around the city's centre.

All but three downtown streets will be converted to one-way traffic. This will enable the city to permit parking for 300 extra cars on some streets where parking has been banned in the past.

Vancouver then will have a total of 2,500 metered parking spaces.

Children in nine foreign nations received health kits, school supplies, clothing and toys as a gift of the Canadian Junior Red Cross in 1964.

TWO YEARS PLANNING

Mission Family Holds Reunion For First Time In 17 Years

OKANAGAN MISSION—A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Boyd recently. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Boyd and daughter, Mary Lou; and Mr. Boyd's three sons and a daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Carey with a son and daughter from Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boyd; and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Boyd from Peace River; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Boyd and son from Edmonton, and Mr. Boyd's niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Aitken and sons from Calgary.

This has been the first time the family has been together for seventeen years, and it took the family two years of planning in order to have everyone here at the same time. During the day, group pictures were taken. A lovely dinner was served by Mrs. H. Boyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gordon and children, Robbi and Alain, have returned from a visit to the coast.

Mrs. Peter Edwards and children, Ross and Carolyn, have returned from a three months visit to Inverness, Scotland, where they visited relatives and friends whom Mrs. Edwards hasn't seen for eleven years. They also visited Mrs. Edwards' brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Don

AVRO PROUDLY PRESENTS WORLD'S MOST POWERFUL JET ENGINE

The most powerful known jet engine in the world, the sleek Iroquois, was displayed for the first time by its proud owners, Orenda Engines Ltd., at Malton, Ont. Canadian designed and developed, the 20-foot supersonic engine is scheduled to power Canada's new delta-wing fighter, the CF-105, now being built by A. V. Roe. When installed in the CF-105, a pair of Iroquois will develop enough power to drive the ocean liner Queen Elizabeth. The mighty engines will hoist the 35-ton plan over 11 miles up in less than two and a half minutes and then level out at a clip twice the speed of sound. The Iroquois has passed its ground running tests and will soon be air tested. U.S. aviation manufacturer is negotiating for rights to build the jet engine.

New Attendance Record Set at Peach Festival

PENTICTON — Penticton's 10th annual Peach Festival, was "definitely very successful in every way," Festival President Bill Rathbun reported.

However, Mr. Rathbun said it was too early to give any definite figures. Attendance was "considerably greater than last year," he added, and indications are that the festival association, financially, did substantially better than break-even, but it would be "some time before we have the complete picture."

ATTENDANCE RECORD

Aside from these cautious observations it was certain that the Peach Festival was definitely the biggest and best and attracted a record crowd of over 20,000. This included total attendance of over 5,000 at the three performances of the sparkling nine-act grandstand show and about 1,600 at the square dance jamboree.

It was also obvious that more visitors attended the festival than ever before. The Peach City was literally bulging with visitors. Licence plates were noted from all over B.C. and from the Yukon, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario. States represented from south of the border included Washington, Montana, Oregon, Idaho, Arizona, Texas and California.

Contributing greatly to the success of the festival was some of the balmiest weather the South Okanagan has enjoyed this summer. Only shadow in the three-day show was a mishap that could have become a tragedy at the Saturday afternoon performance of the grandstand show.

Ruth Johansson, female half of the Sensational Allens aerial acrobatics team, fainted while she was suspended 80 feet above ground by her neck as part of her act. The performance was stopped and Mrs. Johansson was promptly removed from her sling, lowered to the ground and revived. She showed no ill effects while going through her thrilling act at the Saturday evening performance.

Her husband, Allan Johansson, explained his wife had had only six hours sleep in the previous three days and had worked hard helping set up their equipment in four hours—a chore that usually takes six to eight hours. The Allens were among the grandstand show performers delayed in Northern B.C. by rain-clogged roads.

Their act was among the highlights of the grandstand show although each of the nine acts were first-rate performances drawing enthusiastic applause.

Mr. Rathbun explained that the grandstand show was added to the Peach Festival this year as an experiment and it proved worthwhile. "Total attendance was bigger than we had budgeted for," Mr. Rathbun said.

Also very successful was the square dance jamboree at King's Park. There were many enthusiastic comments heard among the 1,600 participants who expressed pleasure with the location, arrangements, music by Roy Christianson from Vancouver and every other feature of the gathering.

The 18,000 square feet of plywood floor at the park proved too small and many had to dance on the grass.

Les Boyer of Okanagan, Wash., was master of ceremonies.

Hidden Liquor Creates Legend

TAYLOR FLATS, B.C. (CP) — Several kegs of liquor more than 150 years old may be buried within a dozen miles of this natural gas boom settlement.

Local legend has it that it was about 1800 when several kegs of rum and whisky, o'd fashioned over-proof stuff, were buried in an old Hudson's Bay Company fort near here, about 700 miles north of Vancouver.

The end of July they went picnicking at Fisgard Light, Esquimalt Harbor; two weeks later the lightkeeper's old red brick house was gutted by fire.

Old-timers say a factor at the post started trading a little of the fire-water to Indians in the area, realizing a whopping profit. At the peak of trading, however, the Indians decided to raid the fort. The factor heard of the plan and buried the liquor deep underneath the fort.

Legend says the Indians attacked, killed the trader, looted and burned the fort, but the liquor never was found.

"It would be," says one man who knows the legend, "one heck of a brew by this time."

THE VICTORIA MERRY-GO-ROUND

VICTORIA — A few years ago your Provincial Government put up the $2,000,000 Douglas Building, as the main annex to the Legislative Buildings.

The idea was to consolidate all government offices, which then were scattered about the capital's uptown section, in half a dozen or more buildings.

The consolidation came about, more or less, but now there are once more so many government offices that the Legislative Buildings and the Douglas Building are too small.

The offices of the Registrar of Companies have moved out of the Legislative Building uptown, to the Temple Building, recently vacated by the Liquor Control Board.

The merry-go-round, you see, has started all over again; in 10 years, or less, the government will once more be trying to consolidate government offices in one central location.

This, apparently, can never be done; Ottawa and Washington have been trying to do it for years. Government offices in those capitals are scattered over miles, as, indeed, they are in this capital.

Victoria section, B.C. Historical Association, has a very red face indeed.

Every time it goes visiting, it seems, the buildings where it visited, burn down.

The amateur historians of Victoria held a meeting in the famous old "birdcage" — the legislative buildings of 1859. A few months later it burned to the ground.

They went to a Government House reception, and the next month Government House burned down.

The end of July they went picnicking at Fisgard Light, Esquimalt Harbor; two weeks later the lightkeeper's old red brick house was gutted by fire.

One of the aims of the historical association: to preserve historic buildings and landmarks. Little more than two weeks now.

Old-timers say a factor at the post started trading a little of the fire-water to Indians in the area, realizing a whopping profit. At the peak of trading, however, the Indians decided to raid the fort. The factor heard of the plan and buried the liquor deep underneath the fort.

Legend says the Indians attacked, killed the trader, looted and burned the fort, but the liquor never was found.

Barbara Brown Wins Legion Scholarship

OYAMA—Congratulations are being extended to Miss Barbara Brown on receiving the Canadian Legion Provincial B.C. North West State Command scholarship award. Miss Brown graduated from Rutland High School in June this year, and is at present employed by the Royal Bank of Canada in Vernon. The scholarship will enable Barbara to enroll at the Vancouver General Hospital in January and begin her training as a nurse.

Oyama juniors versus Camp Hatikva in softball has been a source of entertainment in the past several weeks, with both teams playing evenly contested games, and bringing the score to one win apiece and one tie, with one more game on the schedule to determine the winner of the series. Ed Gallacher is coach of the Oyama team and has also instigated a team of girls from Camp Hatikva and Oyama girls with the first game being played last week. Oyama scored a 25-4 win over the Camp team.

W.I. Members Favor Opening College Of Dentistry At UBC

EAST KELOWNA — Members of the Women's Institute have gone on record asking that a college of dentistry be established at University of British Columbia.

It was pointed out by the dental health division of Vancouver that there is a serious shortage of qualified dentists in B.C. A formal resolution was signed by all W.I. members and forwarded to Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Final arrangements were made for the friendship tea which took place Tuesday. Hostesses for afternoon tea were Mrs. W. Hince, Mrs. A. F. K. James.

The community was shocked to hear of Dr. Cecil G. Hewlett's sudden death. The deepest sympathy of all is extended to his wife, his parents and sisters in their tragic loss.

Friends of Ralph C. Pettrybridge will be glad to hear he is progressing favorably. He is presently staying at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chell at Murrayville, B.C., not Haney as previously stated.

Holiday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Silvester were Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Whitmore of Santa Ana, California. Also visiting at the Silvester home were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hadely, of Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Borrett had their two sons home for the regatta, Alan from Vancouver and Hugh from Campbell River.

This district heard with regret of the accident which resulted in the death of Mike Arecon. Our sympathy is extended to his wife, and members of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Silvester drove to Penticton during the week where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Warkentin.

Mrs. A. Leeson is on holiday at Quesset where she is the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Smaller.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ross left during the week for a holiday which they plan to spend in Spokane.

Holidaying at the home of Mrs. W. Fairweather are her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. Fairweather and daughter, Sheila, of Prince George.

Mr. J. J. Foley, of Saskatoon, arrived during the week to join his wife and family who are holiday guests at the home of Mrs. F. Mearns.

Regatta guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Rantala, were Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Thomas and family of Vancouver.

The total area of public lands in the United States amounts to some 413 million acres.
